“ My Grandma was truly an amazing woman. She was brave, tough, beautiful, and she was a handful. When people ask me where I got my attitude from, I was proud to say "My Grandma!" She was the only person in this world to ever tell me she was proud of me. She was my strength, and when she left this world, my strength went with her. I'm trying hard to get it back, because I want her to still be proud. I want to be the woman she would expect for me to be....the woman she taught me to be. Love is not a big enough word. I pray I will see her again.

“ This is my grandmother hugging me on my wedding day. She was so proud, and she loved my husband. I haven't figured out yet how to live without her smile, but I know she'd want me to.

“ Marie was a lovely neighbor for 37 years, not only because of her warmth and wisdom, but because she brought a loving, beautiful, welcoming and engaging family with her to our long friendship. Her children and grandchildren are very dear to my family as well, and my heart goes out to them for the huge vacuum they are feeling now with Marie's passing. I picture her and LeVelle together now, off on adventures already, now that she is freed from the imprisonment of a world full of allergens and the inevitable bodily frailties that come with age. Neal and I love you all, as your family has become our family, and we wish you comfort and wonderful memories shared.

“ My beloved oldest sister, Marie, was so adored and loved by many, but for her sisters there was always a special place in her heart. I loved her humor, wit, and non sense approach to life! I will cherish all of the memories that we shared and most of all the lessons learned from her living examples and instructions!
My eternal love,
Your sister Ruthie

“ Being in the military was a life changing experience for me. It's where I learned the meaning of a season, a reason or a lifetime. It's nothing like being in a strange place alone with no family and finding a family who organically takes you in to be apart of theirs. I'm a little sad today because one of those matriarchs who took me in as her daughter passed away today. She was there for me at one of the hardest times in my life and I am so grateful to have experienced the unconditional Love that she gave me even though she didn't have too. Grateful for the strong support I needed to push through and the silent support when I just needed to be still. I'm just a "little" sad because I know she lived a long and happy life and she is no longer suffering the sickness of her earthly body. Anddddd because she would tell me I only get to be a little sad for a little while. Rest Easy Mama Pollard you will be missed! Smooches!!!!
