“ Angel My big sister whom I looked up too.

My sister: definition

A celebration of life

She loves her family and she Never met a stranger

We ALL had our own individual real relationships with her. Think about while I reflect.

As a big sister she carried me as a baby into adulthood. I followed her around learning and exploring- she called me Boo Boo. LATER I found out it was from a cartoon character. 😊 I wanted to do whatever she did.....she was so smart!

from braiding my hair and later showing me how to braid and take care of my hair, to teaching how to tie my shoes, shop for groceries, how to stock a pantry, cook, popp my gum , some of you older people understand (haha). She even taught me how to whistle from a big sister to a little sister. Wow! She was the best big sister. She showed me how to color inside the line and would color with me....the whole page. 🙌

Including the top and bottom of the page where no objects were.

She would add to the pages her artistic gift by drawing birds in the sky, adding a sun, grass, roads, and TREES. Do you see?? SHE was an artist, painter, jewelry maker my other things. MANY gifts. I wanted to be like her. As her younger sister, I remember when she left for the Army. Back then there were no cell phones, email, Instagram etc..and to make a long distant call- we had to call an operator to connect the call and it was very expensive. She was overseas, we had to rely on letters in the mail most times.. I missed her sooo much..

when I became an adult, I realize she was a teenager when she left because she graduated high school early.

Wow! When she returned she was a woman and made me an aunt.

I didn't want to share her at 10 years old with her first born Tamika, next Pia, then Angel Camelle. I quickly learned I had to share her.

That didn't stop her from continuing being the Best Big sister in the world! She helped me realize it's an honor and very special to be an auntie. I love you Tamika, Pia and Camelle. Because at 10 years old, I didn't understand, but she made the transition easier for me. She was beautiful In side and out. She had many gifts..... She tried to teach me some of them like how to draw and paint....sorry ya'll, I didn't learn. 😊 But I am going to try and honor & describe my Big sister in an artistic way! Please use your imagination.

Angel in my eyes: ...

A tree grows from a seed up from the ground. She had strong roots. The roots are solid in the Lord. Her tree, It has many branches and grows many leaves. That's all of us..... Family, Friends.

She lived a colorful life, never meeting a stranger. Her life was as bright as the color of autumn leaves: green, bright yellow, amber, red, gold, orange, and many colors. All of her branches have their own personal relationship with her...she was the tree:

THE leaves full of color- can be the symbols of her life experiences. Vibrant in color at the peak of autumn foliage. Today is the first day of autumn. It's fitting because of her bright smile and Big loving personality. As her younger sister, I had to share her with all of you. It's harvest time change in the seasons. As a noun -harvest means the time of year when crops are ripe and ready to be gathered. What a day to return her body Mother Earth! The Lord has already received her soul into his kingdom.

Big sister and lil sister....

I'm still Following you around. One day following you back to mother earth and into the Lords kingdom.

She was my Angel. You got your wings

John 3:16

I love you Big sis.

from lil sister Kelly Freeman

“ Momma, I am grateful to the Most High that you are finally out of that body and off to this earth! Girl, I am so happy that you are free! I'm glad that we were able to make amends and see one another as grown women. I am glad that we were able to respect one another's boundaries. I know that you had big dreams for your girls and you didn't get to do them all. We don't and never have faulted you for that. It's actually why I work so hard. I didn't mind picking up where you couldn't. I know that you had a different mission in life. You were strong in different areas. I recognized it early on in my life. I will continue to do what I have been doing with the girls, helping them learn and grow and be better every day. We have Granny's Babies to get through life now. It's not a charge that we take lightly. We know that you visit us all and we welcome and appreciate the special time. Ease up on the bugs though. None of us like bugs lol. Tomorrow we lay you to rest as the royalty that we have always know. Now go be free, fly high, laugh loud, EXPAND! You've been stuffed in that body for 60 years! I hope that you enjoy your new wings, freedom, and travel partners. Do all of the things that you couldn't before! We love you forever! Mika, Pia, Mille, and Granny's Babies

“ I am at a loss for words, I just spoke with You and We had plans to bring this family back together again. You meant everything to Me as a teenager, you set the margin for Me when it came to being independent, loving and caring. You gave Me so much growing up that I named one of my daughters after your daughter, Tamika. Angel you became my angel many years ago, thank You for your kindness and for loving Me and my siblings. You will be missed dearly, fly high my Love, for God has you enveloped in his love. Blessings to your family during this time, praying for comfort and peace. We love You, children of Melvin and Edith Harrison

I didn't know her by name but saw her often in the halls of the VA hospital where I work she would be moving fast on that scooter of hers, and I see her on the streets and we would greet each other as friends. She will be missed,I now longer have to wonder where she is, She is present with the Lord. Rest In Peace.
