“ By far the one of the funniest moments with you was when we worked together at KFC. As a matter of fact it was everyday! The day I got fired for laughing at and with you was crazy! You would always make sure I had a ride to school and from school! When we connected on Facebook we had some great times catching up and you were always so protective of me! I am so sorry we disconnected, which is why I'm so heart broken over you but I trust God and I know you didn't hold it against me. And if you knew how hard I was taking this you would say something heartfelt to lighten my spirit. I love and respect you and always let you know how much greater you were than what you even realized! I wish you would have written books! Your words were so wealthy and rich! I know you are with Jesus so give him a head nod for me! Love you and missing you, EJ
