“ To know Waletha was truly a gift. Her time on this earth was never wasted. A cherished memory that I have of Waletha is one that demonstrates how her strength was only surpassed by her compassion. In my mother's final days, she was in an adult living facility. When you are in these places visits from family and friends is very precious. It was not just my mother's children who visited her. A constant presence was Waletha. My mother always smiled when Waletha (whom she called Scooby) entered her room. We expressed to Waletha upon mom's passing how grateful we were that she chose to spend time with our mother. Waletha simply said she felt this is where God wanted her to be at this time. For Waletha to give the thanks to God was just like her. Rest well Scooby. God embraces you now. Sincerely, your cousin, Brenda Loggins.
