“ My heart goes out to the Stover family. Bill was a strong and respected member of the officiating community. His forceful yet personable presence commanded the attention of those who were around him. His larger than life no nonsense approach to the love of the game of officiating earned him the “go to person” when things had to get done. He possessed a boisterous energy when teaching new Officials the rules and regulations of game. He was very generous of his time and talent on and off the court. During that first encounter with Bill seemed a bit rough around the edges, but once you got to know him you knew his words were genuine. William “Sarge” Stover will be greatly missed.
