“ Sweet beautiful Yo.I lowhen the veyou and am going to miss you so much,but I hank God that you are not suffering anymore.As I sit here with memories running through my mind,I remember when you were born.You had the brightest eyes and beautiful smile.I remember watching you grow into the beautiful strong woman that you became.Steve,Mark,Teresa,I remember when you guys were born too. I remember the love and memories Uncle James,Aunt Lou and Mama instilled in us and even though some of the links are missing that chain of Love will never be broken.Ravi, I remember when you were born too and how much your Mom loved and welcomed you. The entire family did.Hold on to each other and when the pain and grief overtake you, just trust in God and be there for each other. That is what our parents would want. As the next to the oldest cuz on your Dad,s side I felt the need to share this with you.

“ Yolanda, my beautiful, funny, cousin - as you're greeted at Heaven's gate by Aunt Lou, Uncle James, Victor, James Ervin, JB, Catrina, Christie, mom "Aunt Rudy", dad "Uncle Fred", Aunt Minnie, Jada, Joetta, Ena Joyce, and our other family members, you heard our Lord and Saviour say well done, my good and faithful servant. He heard your cry, as well as ours, and answered our prayers that your pain and suffering would end. Now, you have that glorious new body and eternal life where you can once again, laugh, smile and enjoy your new home in glory. While we miss your earthly presence, spiritually, we are encouraged by your strength, faith, beauty, love and power to fight. May those of us who remain behind find strength and comfort from the Holy Spirit and draw nearer to one another and our Creator. Rest in Heaven, YoYo.
